

TEACHING PEOPLE WITH A DISABILITY TO DRIVE © 3-day driving instructors' course for BSM staff

Enables qualified driving instructors to build on their basic driver training experience in order to assist people with a disability to drive.

Benefits

- Opens up a new client base for your driving school
- Increases your job satisfaction from enabling this client group to become independently mobile
- Enables you to be equipped to work in conjunction with your local Forum Mobility Centre or Motability on rehabilitative driver training
- Develops your Continual Professional Development portfolio

Who should attend?

Qualified driving instructors who are looking to further their careers and develop confidence in the rewarding role of teaching people with disabilities to drive.

Course Overview

The programme includes:

- Disability awareness
- Considering physical conditions
- Effects of cognitive impairments
- Teaching techniques
 - ~ physical disabilities
 - ~ learning difficulties
 - ~ hearing impairment
- Car control options
- Visual problems/testing vision
- Access and wheelchair stowage
- Driving tests and licences
- Information services
- Experience with volunteers with differing disabilities

There is an opportunity to practice and discuss with volunteers with differing disabilities, drive a range of adapted cars and discuss relevant aspects such as modifications, licences, insurance and the driving test.

Course information

Duration 3 days

Location Mobility Centre, Carshalton, Surrey, SM5 4NR
(Local accommodation list available)

When The next available courses are: 26-28 February 2008
21-23 October 2008

How to apply

This is a bespoke course for British School of Motoring Staff – please see information on 'Teaching People with a Disability To Drive' course for general bookings.